NU - TAU Nanoscience and Nanotechnology Initiative

This new initiative will bring together scientists and engineers – graduate students, postdoctoral fellows and their faculty research advisors – from Tel-Aviv University (TAU) with their peers at Northwestern University (NU) for research in the fields of nanoscience and nanotechnology. The goal is to facilitate a robust synergy and cross-fertilization of ideas among researchers at Northwestern University and Tel Aviv University, with a view toward long term collaborations. The start date of the research visit should be between January 1 and September 1, 2022, with the end date determined by the duration of the research stay.

Northwestern support for this initiative is provided by the Crown Family Fund for Engineering and Science in Israel.

We invite applications for the following two programs:

- Post-doctoral Fellowships
- Graduate Exchange Fellowships
